Art Dept. Young Alumnus of the Year Monica Steen

Monica Steen was named the 2014 Art Department Young Alumnus of the Year and is a Jackson, MS native who took a chance at following her dreams. Though she always loved art and design, she began her college career in Education because she felt it would provide a more stable career path. After being displaced due to Hurricane Katrina, she decided to start over and pursue what she knew was her calling. She decided to enroll in the Interior Design program at Mississippi College. She interned at Baptist Health Systems, which piqued her interest in healthcare design. In August of 2011, she graduated with honors with a Bachelor of Science in Interior Design. Three months later, she was hired in the Facilities Management department at St. Dominic Hospital. The position was originally an 18-month temporary position, but after just 13 months, she was offered a full-time permanent position. At St. Dominic's, she has the opportunity to coordinate and assist with many projects such as setting up new offices for relocating Human Resources, Pastoral Care, and Radiology Administration, finish and furniture selections for a new Radial Lounge, finish and furniture selections for a future Deli project, and the Women's World maternity lobby project. She is served two years as the ASID Mississippi District Finance Chair, and she was a project judge at the ASID Student Career Day held at MC this in 2013. Monica is living proof that with hard work, prayer, and determination, dreams really do come true.

Holiday Luncheon

The Interior Design students were able to come together for a fun holiday luncheon the week before final projects were due. A delicious home cooked meal was graciously provided by Debbi Raddin, the Director of Development, Marketing and Business for the STEM institute. Debbi has an office on the North side of Farr Hall. The luncheon provided students a time of fellowship before the craziness of the end of the semester!

Wingard Home Dinner

Each year, Kappa Pi (Art Department Honor Society) hosts a Christmas dinner in Anderson Hall for the Wingard Homeless Shelter residents. The ASID Student Chapter participates by serving dinner. Mr. Mummert delivered a devotional and Santa came to visit the children. Pictured to the left is Santa with the children. It was an incredible evening.

2016 Greece / Turkey Trip

The Art Department will take a group of Mississippi College students and community to Greece and Turkey in May of 2016. Several art classes will be available to take during the trip including two interior design courses; History of Architecture and Interiors I and History of Furniture Design. If you are interested in going, please contact Mrs. Berdami (berdami@mc.edu). All MC students are invited as well as friends and family of MC students.

South Central Chapter ASID Awards

Professors Margie Baumann and Mandy Berdami received awards at the South Central Chapter of the American Society of Interior Designers (ASID) Awards Gala in Shreveport, LA in September. Mrs. Berdami received a Chapter Service Award and a Presidential Citation Award. Mrs. Baumann received a Chapter Service Award. She also received two awards in the Professional Design Competition including Silver for a residential design and Bronze for a furniture detail. Descriptions and photographs of her projects are below.

Silver Award: Residential Kitchen Category, Gilbert Kitchen-This Kitchen was designed to combine a clean modern aesthetic focusing on function, with warmth and color so that the space would feel welcoming and lively.

Bronze Award: Commercial Design Detail Category, Healthcare Seating for Flexsteel Healthcare-The aesthetics of the arm of this healthcare seating group resonate with mid century modern designs, while ensuring ease and cost effectiveness of stateside production. The entire seating group was designed for acute healthcare and senior living applications.
